

Networking for Bioeconomy Public-to-Public Networks

PLATFORM of Bioeconomy ERA-NET Actions (H2020 project GA652635)

PLATFORM – Meta-network for P2Ps in the bioeconomy

The platform of bioeconomy ERA-NETs was initiated to bring together European Research Area Networks (ERA-NETs) and other relevant public-to-public (P2P) networks in the area of the bioeconomy: food, agriculture, aquaculture, fisheries, forestry, climate, biodiversity and biotechnologies. Through its activities PLATFORM established a forum for funders and programme managers and played since 2012 a central role in facilitating and improving the coherence between the P2P networks active in the bioeconomy.

The project received funding from the European Commission under the Seventh Framework Programme (FP7) and Horizon2020 (H2020). PLATFORM meta-networked the funders, programme managers and other key actors of ERA-NETs, Joint Programming Initiatives (JPIs) and other P2P networks. The project under H2020 (2015-2018) continued and expanded the work of FP7 PLATFORM (2012-2014) by further improving exchange and cooperation and strengthening the impact of these P2P networks on the European Research Area and the European bioeconomy.

Impact

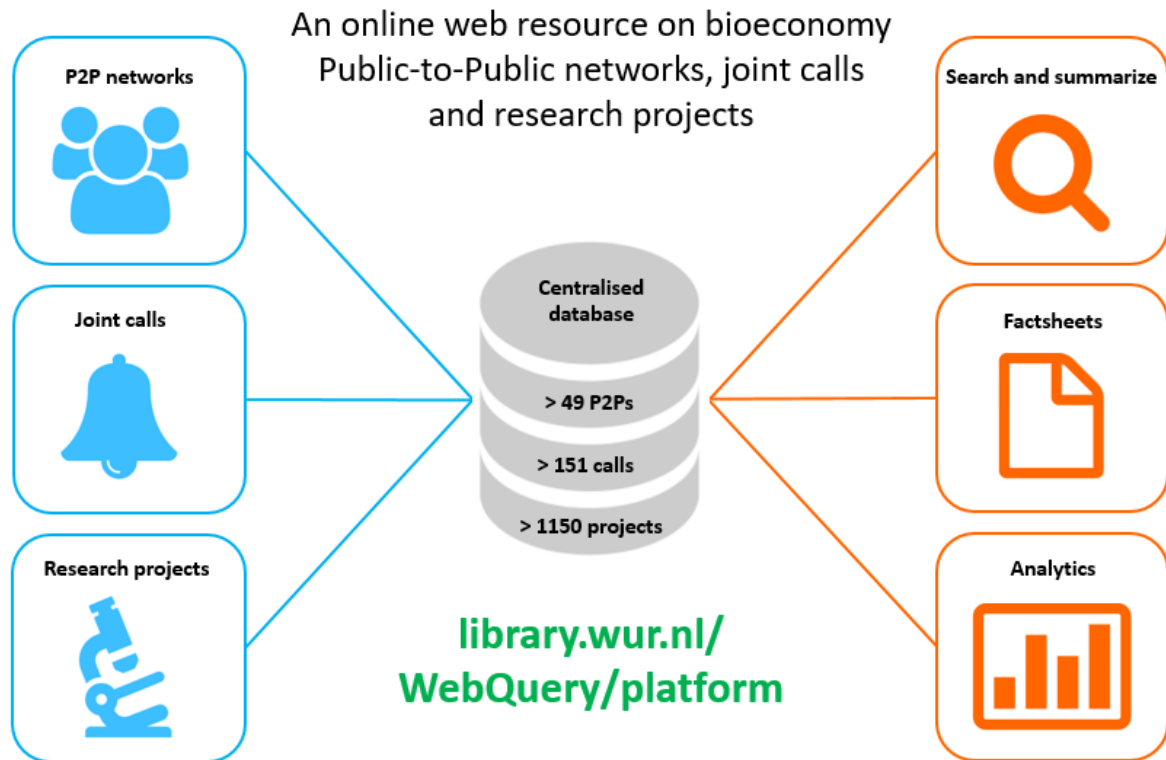

Contribution to European Research Area in the Bioeconomy PLATFORM increased interaction and coherence by consolidating a robust network of Member States research and innovation coordination activities.

Effective implementation of ERA-NETs PLATFORM organised training and knowledge transfer enhancing the professionalism and operational efficiency of the P2P networks whose actors collectively now hold more oversight and expertise of the ERA-NET instrument.

Harmonisation of actions PLATFORM supported the P2P networks to implement activities in a better coordinated manner, vis-a-vis and in interactions with other related programmes (SCAR, EIP-AGRI, BBI-JU) within the bioeconomy.

PLATFORM outreach and dissemination

The members of the PLATFORM consortium actively participated in meetings of the P2P networks and other relevant networks. Presentations were given at conferences and workshops. PLATFORM maintained a website with a comprehensive news section and published a monthly newsletter. Furthermore PLATFORM published: a leaflet, a poster, policy briefs, a statistical overview of the bioeconomy P2Ps and this brochure.

Materials can be downloaded.

PLATFORM DB: Bioeconomy P2P networks information source

PLATFORM developed a database to give overview of the P2P networks and their calls and funded research projects to serve P2P network actors as well as policy makers, national programme managers and the science community.

Queries and real-time analytical statistics can be performed in the database.

PLATFORM Policy Briefs: Actor-driven recommendations to improve impact

During its current course, PLATFORM published four policy briefs to communicate results of analysis and discussions to decision makers at national and European level in their endeavours towards better coordination, the need for P2P cooperation and towards opening up to currently underrepresented Member States.

Policy Brief No. 1 The future of cooperation and collaboration in public-public partnerships between Member States – “Think Back, Act Forward”

Policy Brief No. 2 Co-creation of a Global Bioeconomy

Policy Brief No. 3 The role of the ERA-NET instrument in fostering inclusiveness

Policy Brief No. 4 Alignment in the Bioeconomy
